PITTSBURGH (AP) — A proposed scrapping of the Methodist Negro church is slated as a major item of business at a two-week, world-wide general conference of the Methodist Church opening Sunday.

Delegates are scheduled to deal with a plan of action for the orderly elimination of the church's Central Negro jurisdiction and the merging of its conferences with parallel white conferences.

The conference will be attended by some 900 delegates—half ministers and half laymen—representing more than two million Methodists in 40,000 churches in the United States and more than two million members overseas.

Fake Air Crash Big Success

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — An airliner loaded with dummies broke into pieces, caught fire and crashed in a cloud of smoke and dust Friday at a small airport north of Phoenix.

Officials said the spectacular experimental crash was more severe than planned, but "very successful."

The four-engine DC7A airliner shot off the end of the runway on a simulated takeoff. Its right wing sheared off two telephone poles. The fuselage appeared to bounce off a small mound, then sail over a 150-foot-high hill.

Coalition Regime Enlarged In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The Laotian crisis eased somewhat Friday. Neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma said agreement was reached with leaders of the right-wing military junta on enlarging his coalition regime.

But some hurdles remained. A leader of the junta which seized power in this administrative capital Sunday made clear it would not relinquish control until a government is formed "according to our wishes."

Nazi Criminal Flees With Girl

HANOVER, Germany (AP) — Hans Walter Zech-Nentwich, a convicted war criminal, made good his escape to Switzerland on Friday with a pretty woman companion.

He was aided in his escape from prison by a guard who once was a Nazi and had other outside help in arranging the flight to Switzerland by plane, authorities reported. Swiss police are hunting for him.

Zech-Nentwich, 47, was sentenced Monday to four years in prison for his part in the massacre of 5,200 Jews in Pisk in Nazi-occupied Poland.

Clark Demands Clean Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., urged U.S. Atty. Drew J. T. O'Keefe and District Atty. James Crumlish of Philadelphia Friday to assure a "fair and honest" primary election in Pennsylvania next Tuesday.

Clark, backing Miss Genevieve Blatt, Pennsylvania secretary of internal affairs, for the U. S. Senate nomination, sent telegrams to O'Keefe and Crumlish to guard against what he called "unfair and illegal practices."

Musmanno Calls Poverty A Crime

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — State Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno, candidate for the Democratic U. S. Senate nomination, Friday night branded the existence of poverty as a crime.

In a speech prepared for a rally after a day-long tour of Luzerne County, Musmanno predicted an end to poverty because "people are beginning to see it and to care." He added: "We must do all that is required in order to outlaw poverty in America."

Market Takes Sharp Loss

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Friday took its sharpest loss of 1964 in fairly active trading.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 6.77 to 814.89.

It was the sharpest fall in the average since Nov. 22, the day of President Kennedy's assassination, when the average dropped 7.2.

Volumes was 5.64 million shares compared with 6.69 million Thursday.

THE HANDS AND FEET OF TIME — Our nocturnal correspondent, Morpheus Slumber, has somehow misread directives for turning clocks ahead an hour Saturday night. He knew Daylight Saving Time begins Sunday at 2 a.m., and that he'd lose an hour sleep. Perhaps the directive began, "Keep on your toes this weekend and turn your clocks ahead . . ."

Johnson Visits Shacks During Poverty Tour

INEZ, Ky. (AP) — President Johnson went to the roots of Appalachia's poverty Friday, visiting two families who live in tarpaper shacks in this unemployment-plagued eastern Kentucky town.

The President and Mrs. Johnson flew here by helicopter from Huntington, W.Va., on a four-state whirlwind tour of economically depressed areas.

The presidential party returned to Huntington in the early evening and Johnson conferred with the governors of seven Appalachian states.

Visiting like a next-door neighbor, the President squatted on a pile of lumber on the front porch of the flimsy dwelling where Tom Fletcher, his wife and their eight children live.

With the Fetters during the 10-minute chat, Johnson were Noah Bowen, his wife and three children. They live in a nearby shack similar to the Fetters'.

Fletcher, 38, told Johnson he has been out of work most of the past two years. He said he earned about $400 last year to support his large family.

Most of the conversation was out of the hearing of newsmen.

But, upon leaving, Johnson told Fletcher:

"Take care of yourself. And don't you forget now. I want you to put those boys through school."

The Fletcher home is near the landing strip, two miles out of Inez, where the President's helicopter put down.

Inez is a mountain town of 900 with one coal mine and two or three sawmills. It is in Martin County, which borders on West Virginia and also is not far from Ohio.

President Deserts Guards, Safety Car

PITTSBURGH (AP) — President Johnson threw security precautions to the winds several times Friday in a 3½ hour visit to Pittsburgh.

Deserting his secret service guard on a couple of occasions, Johnson stepped into the thick of street crowds to shake hands and exchange pleasantries with well-wishers.

And for the first time since President Kennedy's assassination last November, Johnson rode in an open auto.

It happened when he left his own closed car and hopped into a follow-up Secret Service convertible. He was joined there by President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers and Mrs. Johnson. They rode a few blocks to a steelworkers union hall where the President spoke.

Lawrence J. Maloney, assistant superintendent of police, estimated a total of 250,000 persons saw the President in Pittsburgh.

The President and Mrs. Johnson broke away from their security guard, and began shaking hands with spectators lining the Greater Pittsburgh Airport railings.

Twice the President stopped the motorcycle and gave impromptu talks, using a battery-powered megaphone.

En route to Allegheny County Airport for a flight to Huntington, W.Va., Johnson again halted the motorcycle.

He had spotted a knot of children standing on the front steps of a Roman Catholic elementary school.

Pentagon Cutback Saves $68 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced Friday 63 closings, reductions and consolidations of military installations and activities at an estimated ultimate saving of $68 million annually.

Most of the individual actions involved relatively minor operations — including some unused Florida seaplane bases — and they will be carried out over a 3½-year period to reduce the economic impact on localities and personnel.

But some of them were important enough to bring prompt protest from members of Congress.

None of the 11 government-operated naval shipyards and no major Army, Air Force or Navy bases were involved in the announcement — but the turn of some of them may come in six to nine months.

When completed, the Pentagon said, Friday's actions will eliminate 10,056 civilian jobs and military assignments — about 6,400 in the United States and 3,600 overseas. Those affected domestically will be largely civilians, those overseas largely military personnel.

The Defense Department estimated that this latest step will combine with earlier ones in a three-year program of reduction and realignment of facilities and operations to bring an ultimate over-all annual saving of $551 million a year in operating costs and the elimination of 81,600 civilian jobs and military assignments.

An added over-all result, the Pentagon said, will be the release of 697,000 acres of land for sale or nondefense use by the government. And 61 industrial plants will have been made available for sale.

The article was signed by "Observer," which means someone influential in Soviet Premier Khrushchev's regime. And its headline was: "No one is allowed to violate the sovereignty of Cuba."

In Washington, a State Department spokesman declined comment.

"The flights of American warplanes over Cuba are an unexcused violation of the sovereign rights of an independent state, a violation of the United Nations charter and of generally recognized standards of international law," the article charged.

"This is a most dangerous policy which could lead to the risk of a new sharpening of tension in the Caribbean area."

"Gentlemen, do not try to intimidate us. If Cuba is subjected to a treacherous attack, the Soviet Union will not put up with it and will side with Cuba. It has declared this before and confirms this now," the article said.

Weather

Local Forecast—Partly cloudy and cool. Today's high between 52 and 58 degrees. Sunday's outlook, fair with little change in temperature. Sun rises 5:08 a.m.; sets 6:49 p.m.

Oswald Known To FBI

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas Police Lt. Jack Revell confirmed Friday he reported to his superiors on Nov. 22 that an FBI agent had said of Lee Harvey Oswald: "We know he was capable of assassinating the president."

Revell said he heard the comment from Agent James Joe Hosty in the Dallas police department shortly after President John F. Kennedy had been assassinated and Oswald had been taken into custody.

Scott Bill Of Medicare Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., introduced a health care plan of his own Friday because he is convinced, he says, that the present Kerr-Mills program of grants to the states "cannot completely do the job."

Scott said his $1.1 billion health care bill would help persons over 65 buy private insurance policies.

He said there are many aged Americans "who, while having resources above the maximum eligibility requirements stipulated in Kerr-Mills, are hard put to meet all their health expenses."

Scott proposes that the government make cash payments toward part of the annual premium costs of private policies. Federal payment could be up to $75 a year for short-term illness policies, or $90 a year for long-term policies.

Scranton For Fighting GOP Candidate

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania said Friday the Republican presidential nomination should go to someone who is fighting for it. He said he does not fit that description.

"I do perfectly forthrightly not want to be a candidate and I've said so over and over again," he said in a question-and-answer period following a non-political address on industrial development problems.

"The only thing that would entice me would be some sort of deadlock in the party—I do not accept one."

Scranton said the Republican national convention should select a nominee who has shown by his actions that he wants the honor enough to get out and do something about it.

"If I wanted to be a candidate, I assure you I'd be running around the country working very hard for it," he said.

Railroads Got LBJ Promise Of Tax Review

WASHINGTON (AP)—A railroad spokesman said Friday that President Johnson has promised the industry "fair and reasonable" review of its request for federal tax relief following settlement of the five-year-old war rules dispute.

But, emphasized J.E. Wolfe, Johnson's promise was not given in exchange for the railroads' acceptance of Wednesday's settlement in the labor dispute.

The tax review the railroads asked involves the question of depreciation on their $4-million investment in tunnels and grading.

The Internal Revenue Service has ruled that tunnels last forever so they are not depreciable, and that railroad grading is essentially land, which also is not depreciable.

Reds Attack U.S. Flights Over Cuba

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government's official paper Izvestia denounced U. S. reconnaissance flights over Cuba and reiterated that the Soviet Union will side with Prime Minister Fidel Castro's island nation if it is attacked.

Izvestia stepped into a controversy between Havana and Washington with a long article Friday sharply condemning the aerial surveys of Cuba that the United States has conducted periodically since the missile crisis of October, 1962.

The article was signed by "Observer," which means someone influential in Soviet Premier Khrushchev's regime. And its headline was: "No one is allowed to violate the sovereignty of Cuba."

In Washington, a State Department spokesman declined comment.

"The flights of American warplanes over Cuba are an unexcused violation of the sovereign rights of an independent state, a violation of the United Nations charter and of generally recognized standards of international law," the article charged.

Gravy Train Dollars For Education

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton formally switched the state's so-called insurance gravy train onto a new rouse Friday and set up a timetable for use of the funds for higher education.

The governor presented $84,323 to the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency. The money represents commissions on insurance purchased in 1963 by the Commonwealth and the General State Authority.

Formerly the commissions were given to politically favored brokers on a patronage basis. Henceforth, at the administration's direction, the funds will be used to underwrite bank loans to students for higher education.

May 1 was set as the date when banks will be invited to take part in the new scholarship program.

The money will go with $425,000 allocated by the legislature for the scholarship plan.

Jack Critchfield, acting executive director of the higher education agency, said the funds would be returned over to the state treasury to be used when needed.

Atty. Gen. Walter E. Alessandrini has ruled that the procedure does not violate state law banning rebates to policy holders.

Bible Reading Bill Called 'Right-Wing'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A California congressman said Friday "right-wing extremists" are trying to stampede Congress into amending the Constitution to permit prayers in the public schools.

Rep. B. F. Sisk, D-Calif., told the House Judiciary Committee the campaign for a constitutional amendment actually is an attack on the Supreme Court.

He predicted that if the committee can prolong its hearings on various proposed amendments substantial opposition will build up against what he sees as an effort to change the First Amendment which provides for separation of church and state.

Sisk said he had not intended to testify at the hearings but did so because he was amazed to read accounts of the early testimony. He said this indicated to him that Congress may be stampeded into amending the Constitution.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., who has listened to more than 25 members of Congress call for an amendment to undo a Supreme Court ruling and permit prayers in the public schools, told Sisk his testimony was "like a bit of cool air in the heat of summer."

Chester Negroes Fight 100 Police

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — A battle broke out Friday night between civil rights demonstrators and city and state police, with five persons reportedly injured and many arrested.

The city's police force of some 60 officers, reinforced by more than 50 state policemen, moved quickly to quell the battle. Demonstrators were put on buses and carried off to jail.

A photographer for the Delaware County Times said about 100 Negro demonstrators were standing at an intersection, singing freedom songs, when police arrived and warned them to clear the intersection.

Some 100 police were called to the scene.

It marked a continuation of protests against alleged de facto segregation in Chester schools.

Meanwhile, 59 demonstrators arrested Wednesday night were fined a total of $31,500 on charges of disorderly conduct and failing to obey a police order. They were returned to jail after a hearing in lieu of $1,000 cash bail each.

School officials asked the Delaware County Court for an injunction against further civil rights demonstrations when the public schools reopen the first of next week. A hearing is scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday.

This development came as civil rights spokesmen, who have led demonstrations for the past month against what they call de facto segregation in schools, repeated statements that they would force another closing of the schools if the Board of Education reopens them.

Fight Starts

A fight then started and several Negro bystanders joined in.

The battle occurred about a block away from the Providence Baptist Church, in the west end of Chester, the predominantly Negro section.

State police at Belmont reported earlier that they had sent troops into Chester.

Rights Jury Trials Proposed In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judges could not impose more than 30 days in jail or $300 fines without jury trials in civil rights cases under an amendment introduced in the Senate on Friday by the Democratic and Republican leaders.

It is similar to a provision in the 1957 civil rights bill dealing only with voting rights discrimination. But it offers some concession to Southern forces who want jury-trial guarantees in all criminal contempt cases — not just civil rights — except when contempt is committed in court.

The amendment was offered by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois on behalf of himself and Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, as the civil rights debate struggled through its 39th day.

President Johnson and Senate leaders guiding the rights bill have called for passage of the House-approved measure without change. But Dirksen indicated his jury-trial proposal has the blessing of the Justice Department.

Mansfield expressed hope that the amendment can be voted on next Tuesday, in the first balloting since the Senate took up the measure last month. When the vote comes will depend on the willingness of Southern foes of the measure to pause in their talking.

The Dirksen - Mansfield amendment would limit to a $300 fine and 30 days in jail contempt sentences without a jury trial under all injunctive provisions of the 1964 bill. And it would bring the 1957 measure into line by reducing the jail ceiling in voter rights cases from 45 days to 30 days.

In line with Southern arguments, the amendment also would limit penalties even in trials before juries to a $1,000 fine and imprisonment for six months.

Court Denies Stassen Suit

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California moved ahead Friday with preparations for its June 2 Republican presidential primary, but still awaited the final word on the Democratic side.

The U.S. Supreme Court, in a 6-3 decision issued without comment, turned down Harold E. Stassen's appeal for a place on the GOP ballot.

Still pending was a similar court action by Mayor Samuel W. Yorty of Los Angeles, who seeks to qualify a slate of delegates to oppose Gov. Edmund G. Brown on the Democratic ballot.

The Dirksen - Mansfield amendment would limit to a $300 fine and 30 days in jail contempt sentences without a jury trial under all injunctive provisions of the 1964 bill. And it would bring the 1957 measure into line by reducing the jail ceiling in voter rights cases from 45 days to 30 days.

In line with Southern arguments, the amendment also would limit penalties even in trials before juries to a $1,000 fine and imprisonment for six months.

The Democratic situation was further confused by word that Sen. Clair Engle had undergone another operation in Washington. Engle was left partially paralyzed and with a speech difficulty from brain surgery Aug. 14. Party leaders have questioned his ability to campaign for re-election.

School Seeks Bible Course Approval

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A Lebanon County school district sought Friday a District Court approval Friday of an elementary school course limit around Bible material.

The Lebanon-Cornwall suburban joint school district presented a copy of the course to the office of Judge Frederick V. Folmer.

Folmer had directed at a Feb. 24 hearing that the special course be prepared and shown to him. Deadline for the presentation was Friday.

The hearing was on a suit brought by the American Civil Liberties Union challenging a permissive Bible reading program used by the school district.

The ACLU asked that Bible reading be banned in any form in compliance with a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that outlawed such readings in public schools.

McNamara VP Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP)—As deftly as an old pro politician, a hearing Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara fielded questions Friday about what he would do if President Johnson asked him to run for vice president.

When the sparring was over, McNamara hadn't said yes and he hadn't said no.

But reporters came away from his news conference with a strong impression that the Pentagon chief might be "available."

McNamara is reported to be—or at least to have been—an independent Republican.

"But," when reporters tried to "set the record straight" on his political affiliation, McNamara smilingly slid off that one, too.

Nothing gives you more leisure than being on time for appointments

Joint Action By Welfare Groups Urged

POCONO MANOR — More than 750 persons attending a statewide mental health conference at Pocono Manor Inn yesterday were told the prospects of overcoming mental diseases depend on concerted community action.

Dr. Francis J. Braceland, clinical professor of psychiatry at Yale University, said all welfare agencies in a community must band together and present a comprehensive community mental health program.

Adams Speaks

Arlin M. Adams, state secretary of public welfare, gave the keynote address at the one-day conference sponsored by Pennsylvania Mental Health, Inc. The program attracted more than 30 Monroe County residents.

Adams called the plan "the first effort of intensive coorprogram will fail without this co-operation."

He said mental health diseases can be prevented by spreading knowledge to the community, the neighborhood and the family. "Mental health in the family in the aggregate assures mental health in the community," Dr. Braceland said.

18,000 Members

Pennsylvania Mental Health, Inc. is an 18,000 member organization and was set up to provide community involvement in the problem.

At a workshop meeting yesterday the county representatives were told how the comprehensive program is going to be accomplished in this region. Monroe is included in a group with Berks, Carbon, Lehigh, Northampton and Schuylkill Counties.

A 15-member planning group will guide the activities in this region. James Gould of Effort and Judge Fred W. Davis of East Stroudsburg are members of this group.

Gould and Judge Davis will in turn set up local committees to study mental health problems in Monroe County. All this information will be submitted to the state advisory board which will consolidate the details and propose a comprehensive state program.

Among those attending from the county were Miss Eloise Bryan, Stroud Union psychologist; Roger Dunning, Stroud Union elementary supervisor; Raymond Serfass, Stroud Union guidance director; Carl Secor, East Stroudsburg supervising principal.

Also Ralph O. Burrows, East Stroudsburg high school principal; Raymond Haddon, county speech therapist; Dr. John Abbruzzese, county psychologist; Miss Elizabeth G. Martin and Henry McCool of the county probation office.

Also David Anderson and Dr. George Ockershausen from East Stroudsburg State College; Ethel West, secretary of the Monroe County Community Chest; Camille Johnson, director of the Monroe and Northampton County guidance center; Charles Jones, director of the Monroe County children's aid society.

Also Miss Virginia Katsenombos, director of the county department of welfare; Harold Kresge, Republican county chairman; John Price, county commissioner; James Gould; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Crossdale and Mrs. James Cummings of the county mental health association.

The Christian and His Neighbor ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Luke 10:25-37; John 4:7-9; 1 John 4:16-5:3.

When a lawyer questions the requirements for eternal life, Jesus reverts to Scriptural law, illustrating it with a parable.—Luke 10:25-29.

In the parable, only the Samaritan stops to aid the man beaten and robbed. Who, then, asks Jesus, is the good neighbor?—Luke 10:30-37.

In His own life Jesus carries out the principle of the parable by talking with and saving the Samaritan woman at the well.—John 4:7-9.

John writes of God's love, saying if we love God, we must also love our fellow man.—1 John 4:16-5:3.

GOLDEN TEXT: 1 John 4:21.

Religion Today

Schwenkfelders In Pennsylvania

By GEORGE ESPER
PENNSBURG, Pa. (AP) — In 1738, the remaining members—less than 200—of a religious group known as the Schwenkfelders fled to Pennsylvania from Germany looking for religious freedom promised by William Penn.

Today they number about 2,500, living mainly in southeastern Pennsylvania. This small, quiet country town is their headquarters. They observe Sept. 24 as a day of remembrance and thanksgiving—Gedächtnis Tag—for their safe arrival in the New World.

The once distinctive dress—similar to the Amish and Mennonites—has disappeared. They are readily accepted in the community. One member, Richard S. Schwenker, is a U. S. congressman from this district. Another, Dr. J. Maurice Hofeldt, is dean of the Hartford Theological Seminary.

The church, a member of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches, describes itself as a Protestant, evangelical, ecumenical denomination.

Schwenkfelder churches—there are five of them with nine ministers—teach the right, privilege and obligation of individual conscience in all matters of faith and work. The emphasis is on the spirit rather than the letter.

The group is the spiritual descendant of a Silesian nobleman, Casper Schwenkfeld von Ossig, who was a contemporary of Martin Luther and John Calvin. Schwenkfeld—1489-1561—did not seek a following, formulated no creed, and did not attempt to organize a church based on his beliefs, according to Andrew S. Berkley, a Schwenkfelder who is assistant headmaster of the group's preparatory school here.

Schwenkfeld sought a reformation of life: liberty of religious belief, a fellowship of all believers, and one united, Christian Church, the Ecumenical Church.

Cobblers numbered many thousands by the middle of the century.

They promoted their beliefs in secret meetings, using Schwenkfeld's literature for the conduct of worship services. These assemblies, or conventicles, says Berkley, were particularly strong in south Germany and Silesia.

"In South Germany," says Berkley, "the last groups of the movement were lost in the Thirty Years' War. In Silesia, through persecution and assimilation their number finally dwindled to a few thousand."

He asserts that established churches were unable to absorb them as an unchurched heretical people, and this resulted in the issuance of a royal decree in 1719 by Charles VI, creating a Jesuit mission to convert them to the Roman Catholic faith.

Berkley says fines, imprisonments and other persecutions imposed became unbearable by 1721. They fled to Saxony as a temporary refuge and eventually to Pennsylvania. The main body of emigrants set out from Saxony in April 1734.

"We have been associated with the Friends, Brethren and Mennonites," says the Rev. Jack R. Rothenberger, former minister at the Lansdale Schwenkfelder church and now chaplain at the Perkasie School.

Today, says the Rev. Mr.

'Slave Day'

EAST STROUDSBURG — "Slave Day" will be held by the members of Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity of East Stroudsburg State College on April 25 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The fraternity members held a similar Slave Day last fall and in order to raise necessary funds it is being repeated as a Spring project.

Funds obtained are used to help pay for the annual Christmas party given for the crippled children of Monroe County.

It is called "Slave Day" because anyone can obtain a young man for any odd job on that particular day. Interested persons can secure further information by calling the Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity at 421-0652.

Rothenberger, "the church government is very similar to the Congregational Christian Church, now a part of the United Church of Christ.

Today's Lesson:

An Inescapable Obligation

By R. H. RAMSEY

Those who insist that a preacher concern himself only with "preaching the gospel" and forget about being a practical, moral teacher, would do well to remember that Jesus Himself, was a great practical and moral preacher. He frequently delivered addresses in which He made answer to questions, gave direction to seekers or upbraided offenders, giving prominence to practical truths.

His Sermon on the Mount is an excellent example of Jesus' practical, moral preachings. It contains very little gospel, but how rich it is in good works and moral teachings! Over and over, Jesus has told us the manner in which we are to live toward our fellow men, stressing the love which should "shine" throughout the Christian character.

In Luke 10:25-37, Jesus does far more than merely answer the lawyer's question, according to the Scriptures. First He asks the questioner what the Scriptures say regarding the requirements for eternal life.

Knowing it would meet the Jesus' approval, the lawyer briefly summarizes Deuteronomy 6:5, 10:12 and Leviticus 19:18. Then, knowing full well he has not lived according to the Scripture, he attempts to justify himself with his conscience by asking Jesus who is his neighbor.

Jesus seizes the opportunity to lay down a profound, eternal truth and illustrates it with the parable of the Good Samaritan. The man who has been beaten and left for dead on the highway between Jerusalem and Jericho is completely ignored by the priest and the Levite. It is the Samaritan—a member of a sect hated and despised by all "good Jews"— who takes compassion on the injured man, binding his wounds, taking him to an inn and arranging and paying for his care.

In all this the Samaritan overcomes the risk to himself, his prejudices of race and religion, the delay in his private affairs and the natural disinclination of anyone to extend sympathy, time, trouble and money on a total stranger.

Which then, Jesus asks, proved the better neighbor? The lawyer gives the only possible, correct answer and is told, "Go, and do thou likewise."

The brief paragraph from John 4 is included in today's lesson because it shows how Jesus carried out in His own life the principle set forth in the parable of the Good Samaritan.

The paragraphs from 1 John assigned to our lesson open with a verse containing the great central truth of the entire passage and from which every other truth we are studying here radiates. Love is a necessity of God's nature, as it is His very nature to love. He cannot exist without loving for, from all eternity and before all worlds, He is, and ever has been, love. He never is or can be, never was or could be, God, without being also love; without loving.

It is only when we love one another with the love of God—the love which is His own, and which He begets in us—that His love is fulfilled in us. Then Love's circuit is complete; from God to us, from us to our brothers and back to God.

In this perfect love, there is no fear; there is nothing to give occasion to fear. We love, because we are first loved by God. And if we love God, then we must also love our fellow man.

THAT TIME

April warms the land preparing the way for pretty little May, and man is ready to enjoy all the wonders of nature anew. The sun is hot, and the strength of its light lengthens the day.

Man has created a time change putting the clock ahead an hour in the Spring enabling him to enjoy more daylight hours for the warm season. To some it is a blessing, to others, a curse.

Leisure time seems to be something that books are written about. Magazine articles try to tell folks how to make oneself busy enjoying time off. Everyone is an expert to manage the other fellow's time. "The little woman" cannot abide her husband not being busy at something. The presence of her big bulk of a man resting is a sight that drives her out of her mind.

Trying to reassure her that rest is needful to prevent heart collapse and assorted other dire illnesses just gets a scathing look and words that no lover should utter, like "Get off the sofa you big bum, there is work around the house to be done."

Not wanting a cold supper the spouse is forced to risk life and limb, with possible stroke thrown in, to placate the "little woman."

"Some folks work harder at leisure time activities than they do in their week long jobs. The amount of effort put forth in play is beyond the imagination. If only a fraction of this effort was put to energizing the church and parish activities there would be spring and a rebirth in every church in the land.

When pastors make a call on a delinquent member's home and the most often offered excuse for not attending services is, "Well, Sunday is the only day I have to rest, so I stay in bed late, golf or just putter around the garden."

Church attendance is a privilege, not just a duty! The Book says—"Forsake not the gathering together of the faithful." What excuse do you think would hold up to reason if Christ were to ask you, "Why do ye forsake hearing my Father's word when it is preached?"

Would you have the "crust" to say "Well, Lord, you see, you made such a beautiful day that I could not resist going fishing, and working a little on the lawn. Then before I knew it your day was over and it was time to go back to my job again."

We make the time to do what we want to do. There is a time for everything, and everything in its time. A time to work, a time to play, and a time to worship God.

There is still time to return to the church, still time to be as he would have us to be, but how much time?

Speaking of time, don't forget to change your clock ahead one hour before retiring tonight!

Bible Study

SAYLORSBURG — Members of the Evangelical United Brethren Church of Saylorsburg will conduct Bible study Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the church.

Obituaries

Vane Edwards, 58, Eastburg

EAST STROUDSBURG — Vane Don Edwards, 58, of 319 Brookside Ave., East Stroudsburg, killed himself with a 30-30 rifle yesterday, according to Daniel G. Warner, chief deputy coroner of Monroe County.

Warner placed the time of death at around 10:45 a.m. He said that Edwards, who had been in "bad health for a long time," apparently left his house and went into the backyard with the rifle.

"He apparently held the gun against the left side of his chest and pulled the trigger," Warner said.

He added that the body was found a little after 11 a.m. by William H. Everitt and his son Russell, coal dealers, who had equipment stored at the rear of the Edwards home.

They immediately notified East Stroudsburg police who in turn notified Warner, according to the deputy coroner.

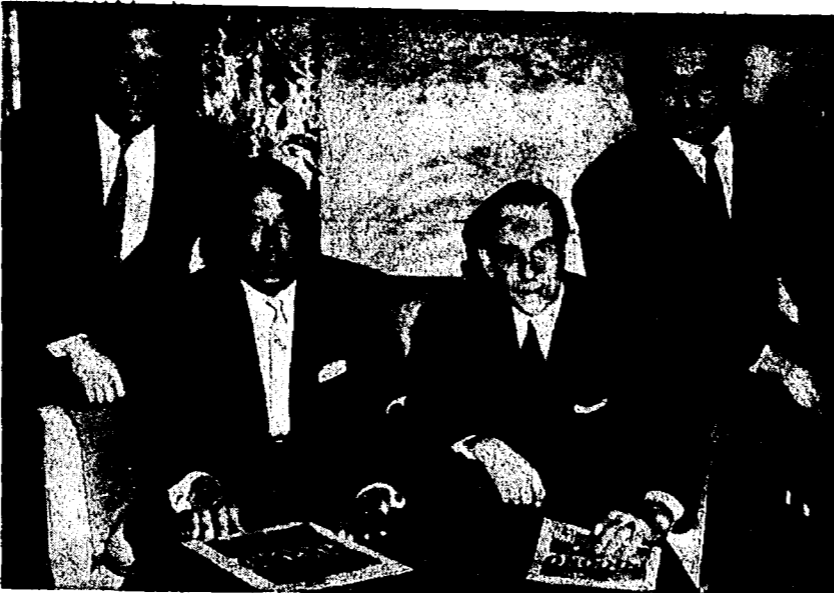

He was the son of the late Daniel and Dora Bapb Edwards, and was employed as a painter in East Stroudsburg. He was born in Pen Argyl.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy Bago Edwards, at home; three daughters, Mrs. Jeanne Schaeffer of Easton; Gayle Edwards of Pen Argyl; and Mrs. Norma Davis of Bath; one son, Richard Edwards of Pen Argyl; eight grandchildren; five sisters, Mrs. Mae Fritz of Allentown; Mrs. Nellie Vaughn of Cypress Hills, Fla.; Mrs. Betty Wooten of Easton; Dora Edwards of Pen Argyl; and Mrs. Louise Communal of Long Island, N.Y.; three brothers, Troy Edwards of Washington, D.C.; Brooks Edwards of Pen Argyl; and Jay Edwards of Easton.

Funeral services and burial will be made at the convenience of the family; services will be held by Rev. Robert Sheesley. Burial will be in the Fairview Cemetery, Pen Argyl.

There will be no visitation. Funeral arrangements are being handled by the Pullis Funeral Home, Pen Argyl.

A handy rule of thumb is that a family usually can afford a home costing two and one-half times the family's annual income.

PMVB Launches Tourist Bid

NEW YORK — "The New York Times" Pocono supplement should kick off a wonderful year for us," John Calhoun, executive secretary of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau said last night.

He was referring to a 16-page supplement entitled "Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania" which will appear in the Sunday times tomorrow.

It will be included in an estimated 1,350,000 newspapers which will go to 10,750 communities in all 50 states.

The insert is striking — with many pages in full process color. It contains articles on the features of the Poconos most attractive to vacationers; an article by Jackie Gleason on "Why I Love the Poconos"; and appeals to industry to look into the region for industrial sites.

The pitch is generally to the honeymooner and vacationers, however.

The vacation bureau budgeted $60,000 for this nationwide promotion. Another $20,000 has been spent for 5,000 copies of a promotional brochure with listings of vacation spots.

The total promotional publications budget comes to $80,000 — and will reach millions of people.

This $80,000 comes out of a budget of over $125,000, to be spent on bringing the name of the Poconos before America.

Schuchard: Competition keen

In announcing the New York Times magazine, Eric Schuchard, president of the vacation bureau, said, "Competition in the travel industry is very keen today and is likely to continue so. This supplement is timed to create the maximum nationwide stimulus for the Poconos just prior to the summer season."

One point of the supplement is the fact that the Poconos are of easy access to visitors to the World's Fair.

Charges Undue Credit Taken

Rev. Creitz Lashes At Rooney

EASTON — The Rev. Dr. George Creitz of Easton warmed up to his task of campaigning for the Democratic nomination to congress yesterday by firing a fusillade of charges at his chief opponent, incumbent Congressman Fred B. Rooney.

Dr. Creitz took Rooney to task in a press release. He accused his opponent of taking credit "where no credit is due."

The Easton pastor chided Rooney for promising to arrange for the vacation bureau (Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau) in Stroudsburg and others to come to Washington to testify on proposed wage and hour law amendments affecting the resort hotel industry.

"But the hearings he (Rooney) talks about are to be held in the Senate, not the House of Representatives. It would be strange indeed, if a freshman congressman — not even elected for a full term — could speak to the august gentlemen of the Senate."

"In one breath, my opponent pleads for giving him greater seniority because no congressman can accomplish anything without it . . . and in the next breath he speaks with the authority of a senior senator."

Editor's Note: The House committee on labor held hearings on the proposed changes in the wage and hour act.

Dr. Creitz claimed these same tactics were used "in the now much talked about bill to aid five companies."

He said: "It was claimed that there would be immediate tax relief to the five companies. This is simply not true; there must be hearings on the subject. Thus far, none have been either asked or called for."

"Rooney himself admits now that he's embarrassed by my revelation . . . that nothing will be done until after the medicare bill is taken care of."

"But he still tries to duck the issue by asking where I got my facts. I got them where I said I got them originally—from the Internal Revenue Service itself."

"The legislative record of our incumbent congressman is far from noteworthy. While he has been loud in support of President Johnson's foreign aid program, when the bill came up he wasn't there."

"There are many times when he's not present on the floor of the house. He has been absent from at least two quorums called in the past month . . ."

Despite the fact that there was important appropriation bills on the docket.

"Of course, he might claim that he has been busy campaigning. But he hasn't been busy campaigning against me. His stoges are doing it for him."

"This is a typical Rooney procedure. When a delegation from this area were down in Washington to attend his inauguration, he snubbed them in favor of a long conflation with the late William Green of Philadelphia."

"I have no hesitancy in charging that our 'boy wonder' in congress is more interested in playing ball with the big city political machines than in representing the people of his home district."

Bible Reading Battle

Congressmen report that the public is more aroused about Bible reading and prayer in public schools than any other subject.

Letters and petitions, many from this area, are pouring into Washington demanding a Constitutional amendment to overthrow the Supreme Court decision banning required religious exercises in public schools.

The Supreme Court decision June 17, 1963, found unconstitutional a Baltimore school requirement of daily Bible reading and recital of the Lord's Prayer and a Pennsylvania law requiring daily recitation of at least 10 verses of the Bible.

The court had earlier struck down a New York state-written prayer as unconstitutional.

We agree with these Supreme Court decisions. Required religious exercises violate the freedom of religion of those who belong to the 83 separate religious groups in America each with more than 50,000 members, and numberless smaller church groups.

No child of any faith should be forced to pray or recite any prayer or Bible passage against his will. And more important, no government — federal, state or local — should have the power to force religious observances of any kind on students in public, secular schools.

Now, however, an amendment to the Constitution is proposed which would allow Bible reading and prayer in public schools if no student is forced to participate and is free to leave the room if he wishes.

The Supreme Court did not state clearly that permissive rather than required religious exercises are constitutional. Therefore this amendment appears necessary.

We support that amendment as a possible solution of the Bible reading battle. We cannot agree with those who believe even permissive recitation of the Lord's Prayer or Bible verses violates the free exercise of religion or the separation of church and state.

The important freedom which must be defended in this argument is the right to believe in no God or in a God different from that worshipped by the majority.

This freedom to believe or not believe is a basic American right, stated by our founding fathers and preserved in the Constitution. We fail to see how it would be disturbed by the proposed constitutional amendment.

Real Religious Teaching

Some of the arguments advanced for the proposed constitutional amendment to allow permissive Bible reading and prayer in public schools reveal the weakness of religious education in America today.

It is a curious comment on American religious practice that more public energy and enthusiasm is put into the issue of reading the Bible and reciting the Lord's Prayer in public schools than is put into financing and improving our churches and religious education in our church schools and Sunday schools.

The proper place for religious education is not the public school system.

It is in the home, where parents should teach religious history and belief, and in the churches, where formal religious education should complete that indoctrination.

Religious observances in the public schools should not be forced upon students. They should not be banned, if properly conducted. But they should not be looked upon as the religious salvation of the country.

If God can be driven out of American life, as extremists claim today, by limiting worship of Him in public schools, then He is not very strongly entrenched in American life.

The energy and indignation being poured into the battle for Bible reading and prayer in public schools would be better directed to improvement and participation in church and home religious education efforts.

How many parents shouting about God in American life and insisting on public school prayers and Bible reading are giving money and their own teaching time to improve religious education where it belongs — at home and in church?

Comment Of The Day

"I am firmly committed to the protection of the minority in our society. But I do not, and cannot, see that permissive prayer constitutes an infringement on the rights of anyone, minority or otherwise."

Walter Lippmann

Demo VP Choice

By Walter Lippmann

The nation has come into a time of troubles, and we dare not let our affairs become snarled up and unmanageable because organized American society is impotent to act promptly and firmly. It is necessary to assert the paramount authority of the government over all attempts to paralyze it or to intimidate it. Our immediate need is an agreement in the Senate on a reasonably amended civil rights bill. The country cannot afford a filibuster that lasts all summer; it is essential to demonstrate that the government can govern and that, because it can govern, it is entitled to the faith and confidence of loyal men and women.

But even if this is done, it will not mean that the Negro protest will subside when the civil rights bill passes. The grievances of the Negroes are not only the denial of their civil rights, but the inequality of economic opportunity which stands in the way of every Negro child. To do something about this inequality will require resolute action to carry out the purposes which are sketched in the so-called war against poverty.

But that is not all. The internal tranquility of the nation is seriously disturbed, not only by racial, but also by sectional and ideological conflict. The true defense against division and disunion, which have grown alarmingly in recent years, would be a rally in the election year of the vast central majority of prudent men and women in both our parties.

That such a rally is already going on is shown by the phenomenal strength of Lyndon Johnson in all the polls in all parts of the country. He is so strong because he himself belongs to the great prudent majority, and he has quite deliberately and very skillfully raised a standard out of the jaws of victory. They are predicting a struggle at the Democratic convention between the Johnsonians and the Kennedy following. This could happen if there is, as the pessimists are predicting, an attempt to compel Robert Kennedy as his running mate.

It is, however, hard to believe that this will happen, that there will be a Kennedy faction in Atlantic City which wishes to deny the President the right to choose the man who may be his successor if he dies, who may have to substitute for him if he is taken ill, who, as the government now operates, must be his deputy and his intimate in the conduct of the administration.

There are certain considerations which, when duly weighed, seem to be decisive against the choice of the attorney general as a candidate for Vice President this year. One is that he and the President are not close, but on the contrary are at arm's length with each other. This was tolerable in the days when the Vice President was a Throldbottom. But not in these days, when the Vice President must be the prime insider in the administration.

The second reason is that the Vice President must be chosen with complete awareness that at any time, beginning with the day after inauguration, he may suddenly become the President. It would, I believe, be deeply disturbing to the people of this country if President Kennedy's brother got to the White House because of a political maneuver in the Democratic convention. I think many would resent it. The possibility that this could happen would be a grave liability in the election.

The greatest service that can be done to the memory of John F. Kennedy is to finish what he began. This will assure him a high place in history. To finish what he began, his successor must be given the means — an impressive mandate from the country and the united support of the party. No greater disservice could be done than to feed the suspicions of the many who admired President Kennedy, but thought his family was overactive.

Robert Kennedy is not ready to be President of the United States. But at his age and with his very remarkable political gifts, he has every right and much reason to aspire to be the President some day. The only self-respecting way to go about that is for him to earn his own way, not to inherit the office from his brother.

Since there is no opening for another Kennedy in Massachusetts, why does the attorney general not move to New York and run against Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in 1966? If he won, he would be well on the way to a Presidential nomination in his own right.

Rooney Backs Bible Reading But Defends Supreme Court

(Congressman Fred B. Rooney appeared before the House Judiciary Committee Friday afternoon to testify in favor of prayer and Bible reading in the schools. The complete text of Rep. Rooney's statement follows.)

I am grateful to the distinguished members of this committee for the opportunity to present these brief words of testimony in support of an amendment to the Constitution which would restore the right of local school districts to permit prayer or reading from the Bible in local classrooms. I want, first of all, to make one thing absolutely clear.

No Court Criticism
My belief that prayer should be permitted should not, in any way, be interpreted as a criticism of the United States Supreme Court or any one of the nine great men who honor our nation through their service upon it.

I have said from the beginning — and I repeat, now — that the Supreme Court's decisions in the cases brought before it were unassailable.

I am not a Constitutional lawyer and I make no pretensions in this field. I am well aware that there is some dissent among experts and informed persons to the decisions on legal grounds.

But this open and honest disagreement has been clouded and corroded by the vicious underground assault upon the court and its role in our society.

We are a nation of laws and our national purpose has been seriously thwarted and threatened by those who seek to undermine the faith of the American people in the law or the courts which administer it.

Those who cry out for the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren are not, after all, attacking one man alone. They are, instead, engaged in a calculated attack against the whole structure of our free society — a society of free men governed by laws, under God.

Extremists
There are extremists on both sides in this controversy. To them, the issues are always either white or black and there are never any shades of relatively or importance.

I am greatly impressed by the dissenting opinion of Justice Stewart in the second of two cases considered by the court.

In particular, I want to cite that section in which Justice Stewart addresses himself to the specific issue of interpreting the first amendment. This is what he said:

"The First Amendment declares that Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

"It is, I think, a fallacious oversimplification to regard these two provisions as establishing a single Constitutional standard of 'separation of church and state' which can be mechanically applied in every case to delineate the required boundaries between government and religion."

"We err in the first place if we do not recognize, as a matter of history and as a matter of the imperatives of our free society, that religion and government must necessarily interact in countless ways. Secondly, the fact is that while in many contexts the Establishment Clause and the Free Exercise Clause fully complement each other, there are areas in which a doctrinaire reading of the Establishment Clause leads to irreconcilable conflict with Free Exercise."

American Doubts

Justice Stewart expresses far better than I could, the doubt that many American citizens feel concerning a rigid application of the First Amendment's restrictive clauses governing the relationships which must, of necessity, exist between the spiritual, social, economic and governmental lives of our people.

I believe, without equivocation, that local schools should be permitted to include prayer or reading from the Holy Bible as part of their daily classroom routine.

I believe that the majority of America's people are in agreement with that stand. I know, beyond doubt, that the overwhelming majority in my own district agree.

Two Sides

But there is plenty of room in this issue, as in all others before this Congress for honest disagreement. The men and women on both sides of this controversy, at least in my own district, are people of honor and good will.

It is argued that, although the majority may favor restoration of permission for prayer and Bible reading, we cannot afford to sacrifice the rights of a minority who dissent from such practice.

I want to say, now, that I am firmly committed to the protection of the minority in our society. But I do not, and cannot, see that permissive prayer constitutes an infringement on the rights of anyone, minority or otherwise.

On the other hand, I cannot agree with the view that the will of the majority of Americans should be subordinated to the dissenting will of the few. To do so, now — and to continue to do so, indiscriminately, in the future — would lead to the eventual total destruction of the American system of democracy.

That system is based upon majority rule and I believe it is the strength of this nation today as it has been since the United States was founded. We cannot abjectly abrogate the rights of millions in the name of protecting the right of a minority.

Belief In God

Belief in God lies at the core of America's greatness. There is, therefore, a moral and spiritual justification for permitting prayer or Bible reading or the study of the scriptures in our public schools.

Aside from this moral reason, it seems to me that the Constitution should not arbitrarily restrict the activity of a purely local section of our society or remove from it the responsibilities which are, by tradition and by law, in the local domain.

We have heard a great deal, in recent times, about the rights of the sovereign states. The argument may have been corrupted and confused by those who would forcibly deny the rights of citizens primarily to hold them in economic servitude, deprive them of a proper education and imprison them in sub-standard communities where they have little hope for a decent life.

Yet here we are, in this complicated legal thicket, with a Constitutional amendment which, when rigidly interpreted, would dictate to the most purely local of all governmental units — the township or district school board — what it can or cannot, must or must not do.

The Federal Government does not tell teachers what to teach. It does not dictate speeds on local highways. It does not presume to exercise its power over local municipalities as to the manner in which their governmental proceedings should be conducted.

Local School Control

It should not exercise such control in the local classroom, either for or against the majority will of the community, either with or in opposition to the will of the few.

This matter, like the method of instructing pupils, the hiring of personnel or the choice of subject matter belongs, by right, to the state, the local community and the individual.

I stand firmly committed to the principle of separation of church and state in our democracy. I see no conflict, whatever, between that principle and the simple act of uttering a prayer or reading the Bible.

Not A State Church

There is a vast, common sense difference between the enforced establishment of a state church and the brief expression of a belief in a Divine Being. The former, improperly exercised, constitutes control; the latter, used wisely, constitutes spiritual guidance.

I am opposed to the former under the concept of our Democracy. I am unequivocally in favor of the latter.

This should not, by rights, have become such an emotional controversy. The heat of dispute in this case has done serious damage to the growing effort to bring about greater compassion and mutual understanding between the several religious faiths.

I have tried to make this a reasoned, calm statement of my own belief in this matter. It is, admittedly, a personal belief.

But I believe most Americans share it — and even if they did not, I would still be bound by personal conscience to take the stand I am now taking.

As a young man, I attended public school where it was the custom to read, briefly from the scriptures. I know of no one who was ever affected adversely by those few moments with the Word of God.

On the other hand, I think that most of us emerged with a somewhat broader understanding of the religious beliefs of others and a greater respect for the wisdom of the Bible.

I want to say just one brief, final word.

American Under God

There have been great spiritual "doubters" in our history. Some of them contributed fundamental precepts to our free society and fought to see those principles preserved.

In seeking to amend the Constitution, I do not seek to destroy any part of that magnificent heritage. I am asking, only, that we act, now, to preserve a strong, united America, under God.

Dr. Leitner Criticizes ESSC For S. Green St. 'Eyesore'

Editor, The Daily Record:

I am writing to voice a strong protest against the unsightly mess being produced on South Green Street, in East Stroudsburg, where fill is being dumped on the land recently purchased by the State College.

This is not only an ugly eyesore, but also a health menace, since the material dumped there is far from clean, including rubbish of all kinds, and perhaps even garbage.

In addition, the previously free-running stream which passes through this parcel of land has become stagnant and filthy. Similar action on the part of a private, tax-paying citizen would not be tolerated by the borough authorities.

For several years I have been attempting to get some action by the East Stroudsburg borough officials to spray or oil the swamp waters to prevent mosquito breeding with no success.

When the land was acquired by the State College, wrote a letter to the President, pointing out to him the health hazards involved.

I am sorry to say that his response to my letter was quite unkind, stating, in essence, that since the borough had done nothing before to protect the students, why should the college now worry about the interests of the borough citizens?

As health officer of the Borough of East Stroudsburg I have had the college authorities notified of the necessity of providing a free flow for the now stagnant waters, but no action has been taken. I am hoping that this public complaint will arouse enough interest to produce some results.

I wish to thank the League of Women Voters of Monroe County for asking me to express an opinion on various topics preceding the upcoming primary election on April 28th. I feel that this is a most commendable civic project.

After due consideration, and the discussion of my views with educators, attorneys and businessmen, I felt to make a statement in the required 50 words and not qualify it, as to why I felt as I did about the subject, would be unfair to the voting public.

I personally would be glad to answer any questions on these topics that anyone would care to ask me, or if the proper forum could be found, I would discuss or debate the topics publicly.

Krebiozen Cancer Cure Backed As Inexpensive Discovery

Editor, The Daily Record:

This is cancer control month. We are being solicited by the American Cancer Society. A cancer-conscious public has contributed generously in the past because we fear the scourge of cancer.

Cancer also has been more than generous in appropriating funds to find a cure for this scourge of mankind.

Somehow, in the long history of medicine, it has not been the well-organized groups with the large budgets who have made the great discoveries which have benefitted mankind.

More often it has been a solitary individual who had an idea which possessed him. The true scientist is oblivious to time or pay or vacations. Such a man is Steven Durovic.

He brought a substance into this country which he named, Krebiozen, taken from the Greek meaning "that which regulates growth."

His theory was that cancer is a normal growth, that there is something lacking in the cancer patient which regulates growth and repair. This substance which he isolated and introduced in this country in 1951, has shown great promise on thousands of patients administered by over 3,000 physicians.

Krebiozen has been used chiefly on those on whom all other forms of treatment had failed. Its benefits have been twofold: reduction or disappearance of tumors and relief of pain with a feeling of well-being. However, as with Lister, Pasteur, Semmelweis and more recently, Fleming discoverer of penicillin, various organized groups indulged in the pastime of calling him names, but were really unwilling to scientifically test Krebiozen to prove its worth.

These enemies were in high places and were able to deprive the cancer patient of a chance to try Krebiozen. Now, unless you live in Illinois where it is produced, you cannot obtain Krebiozen.

Does this seem like the proper way to settle a scientific matter? Or, does it seem as if Krebiozen is deliberately being buried? People all over the country are asking why a non-toxic substance given by a physician can be withheld from a helpless cancer patient.

If you feel that this approach is not the American way to solve this problem, write to Senators Scott and Clark and Congressman Rooney or McDade in Washington. Let President Johnson know how you feel about it too.

Notice To Immigrants

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is writing this letter for me because I cannot read or write English. My dream of becoming an American citizen will soon come true, although I speak and write only Spanish. I just learned that it is possible for foreign-born people to take American citizenship.

I have tried to make this a reasoned, calm statement of my own belief in this matter. It is, admittedly, a personal belief.

AN OLD BUT NEW AMERICAN

DEAR AMERICAN: Thank you for your letter. It is with much pleasure that I share the following information with all interested readers: "According to immigration law, persons born before December 24th, 1902, and have resided in the United States at least 20 years, can take their citizenship tests in their native tongue." Immigrants who came to America after the turn of the century, and who never learned English, should know that this opportunity is available to them.

DEAR ABBY: To the unhappy young bride who is living with her in-laws, I say, "Leave now, and don't wait. If your husband tries to talk you into staying, go without him. If he loves you, he will follow. The longer you wait the harder it will be to get away. There will be one baby after another." Abby, my husband told me when we were first married that we would live with his parents for three years. It turned out to be ten times three, plus four. Daily Record News Coverage Commended

Editor, The Daily Record:

We can no longer refrain from writing to tell you of our high opinion of your newspaper. Your coverage of international and national, as well as local news is so excellent that we have given up reading metropolitan newspapers.

Recently we returned from an extended trip which required stopping many nights at motels in cities and towns large and small. Nearly always their newspapers were totally inadequate for one interested in the important happenings of the day; too often they permitted social news to dominate their columns.

We salute you and thank you for giving us an intelligent and well-written newspaper, such as we could not find in communities many times the size of ours.

99 Per Cent Of ESSC Graduating Class Get Jobs

EAST STROUDSBURG — More than 99 per cent of the 1964 graduating classes at East Stroudsburg State College, who were available for teaching, have been placed in professional positions according to Dr. John R. Wildrick, director of Student Teaching and Placement.

Easter Seal Drive Lags; $5,247 In

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County Crippled Children and Adults Assn. has collected $5,247.46 from the Easter Seal drive this year, Dr. James Reed, president, said yesterday.

He pointed out that disbursements for 1963 amounted to $2,914.44, and that the contributions this year are considerably less than last year.

"The response to the Easter Seal letters was poor as only one-third of these were returned. Since there is no mail follow-up, it would be deeply appreciated if all those who have overlooked their contributions would mail them to the Stroudsburg office now," Dr. Reed said.

"The service of the association is to help those who are handicapped. Cases are referred by physicians. Investigations and applications made according to need. Wheelchairs, surgical supplies, physical therapy, walkers and rehabilitation are a few of the services rendered," he concluded.

During the months of February and March the association investigated the following reports: surgical supplies for a child; physical therapy for a child; a wheelchair for a child; special rib-belt walker and a vest-type support for sitting, for a child.

The following for adults: special drugs, speech therapy and rehabilitation and orthopedic shoes with leg braces.

Auctioneers To Celebrate 15th Year

STROUDSBURG — A banquet in honor of the 15th anniversary of the founding of the Lehigh Valley Society of Auctioneers will be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. in Bethlehem.

Presidents from all six state auctioneers chapters will attend the yearly function, which will be held in the Salisbury Fire Co. hall at 1226 Marlowe St., Bethlehem.

Wayne Posten and his daughter Maude S. Posten, both of Stroudsburg, will attend the meeting for Monroe County.

Posten, along with Lee Pillsbury of Bethlehem, E. J. Knoll of Allentown, Woodrow Roth of Emmaus, C. J. Leiby of Allentown and Charles Warmkessel of Allentown, were the founders of the Lehigh Valley Chapter.

Posten said that the founding of the Lehigh Valley chapter led to the founding of the Pennsylvania Auctioneers' Assn., which joined the National Auctioneers' Assn.

The banquet will be limited to 300, and will feature a floor show.

Posten has served two presidencies and one treasurership of the Lehigh unit, and in 1957 served as state president. Since the state was divided into six chapters, he has been a member of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Auctioneers' Assn., and has served as that group's president.

He added that his daughter is one of 11 fully accredited auctioneers in the nation.

Penn State Gets Grant

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania State University has received a $53,750 state grant to conduct three coal research projects, it was announced this week.

The grant was made by the Coal Research Board of the state Department of Mines and Mineral Industries.

Projects to be undertaken with the money are studies into: —Dissipation and removal of fog from airfields by the application of energy derived from coal.

—Reduction of ash and sulfur in bituminous coals during preparation.

—Effective measures to combat mine disasters.

The research will be conducted by the coal research section of the university's College of Mineral Industries.

In the office of Frank Smith, Monroe County prothonotary.

The suit was brought by Mary E. and Woodrow Berger of Pocono Lake against Clifford T. Wilkinson of Freeland, Pa.

It contends that on June 10, 1962, at 10:30 p.m., Berger parked 13 feet off Rt. 940 in Tobyhanna Twp. in front of the Red Top Inn.

It further alleges that Wilkinson drove off the highway and struck the left rear of the Berger car, violently throwing Mrs. Berger around inside the car.

The first count alleges that Mrs. Berger sustained severe bruises, intense pains and shock, soreness and severe pain of the neck, back, and head, a sprained neck, pain in throat, headaches, blurry vision, muscle spasms, and injuries to the right side and the hand. This count asks damages in excess of $10,000.

The second count asks $200 damage to the car plus medical treatment and loss of earnings and companionship for Mrs. Berger due to the injuries, totalling in excess of $10,000.

Coin Confusion

PARIS (AP) — France went from a big to a smaller 50-centime piece and everyone is confusing the new coins with 20-centime pieces worth four cents. So, Finance Minister Valery Giscard announced, the ministry is thinking about issuing another 50-centime piece, presumably as big as the original that was replaced.

Just Between Us—

by Bobby Westbrook

Belgrade — Just as you need both light and shadow for contrast in a landscape, so in traveling, the familiar lends dimension to the unfamiliar. And one of the most familiar things in a woman's life is getting her hair "done". We went to the beauty shop at the Hotel Metropole, one of Belgrade's best. The beauty shop is, too, with the distinction of a fresh towel for every customer.

Actually, there is a similarity to beauty shops everywhere, and Vera, who gave up her lunch hour to squeeze us in was very sweet. She sold beer for setting lotion, but the results were just the same as at home.

Freshly coliffed and with the assurance that gives any woman, we tackled some shopping of our own. The handicraft shops along the Knez Mihailova, and around the Torzija, (Main St. or Vin Veneto or Fifth Ave. and Times Square of Belgrade), feature principally leather craft, wood carvings, hand woven articles, and brassware.

When you can neither pronounce nor spell the names of the streets, it comes as a shock to find Charlie Chaplin St. and Franklin Roosevelt Boulevard, not to mention George Washington street (spelled Dardza Vasiljona). Some of the trolley cars are the ones bought when Washington, D. C. gave them up and are called in Belgrade along Washington's.

Meanwhile we were concentrating on our fellow shoppers almost as much as on what gifts we wanted to take home. In the morning, the people look like home — more like Main St. than Fifth Ave. or Vin Veneto — with no hats, very few gloves, but lots of suits (a little wider of shoulder and nipped at waist, but familiar) and lots of two-piece knits. But then it's hard to tell native from foreigner. The woman next to us in the wood-carving place turned out to be from Columbus, Ohio.

After 4, when the shops re-open and the peasants come in by the busload, they close the street to vehicular traffic and it's sort of like Times Square on New Year's. That's when a few of the costumes come in along with the everyday country wear. Head scarves, full dark skirts with aprons, embroidered stockings, leather shoes with curved toes and sleeveless sheepskin jackets with the skin side outside.

Once in a while you'll see a

Dandy Salad Greens From Lawn Scourge: Dandelions

By Linda Pipher

Stroudsburg — Some people are blessed with a creative touch that gives everything they do a stamp of individuality. Such a person is Alice Wicks, of East Stroudsburg, and her many talents have been evident to you, too, if you have ever visited Quiet Valley Museum in Stroudsburg.

Last year the Wicks family turned one of the very old farms of the Poconos into a living museum where visitors have a chance to see how Pennsylvanians lived a hundred years ago. This winter, Mrs. Wicks has been pouring over old, old cookbooks and experimenting with recipes that may be adapted for use at the museum.

One of the things she has learned is that way-back-when, dandelions were considered a preventive for insomnia! In bygone days leaves were used for greens and salads, blossoms for wine and fritters, and the roots for medicinal purposes.

Since we are now in the midst of Dandelion Days, Mrs. Wicks is sharing some of her recipes with us so that we, too, can take advantage of this tasty food that is available in our own back yards. The cool, rainy Spring weather we've been having makes the dandelion tender and sweet; as the weather becomes hot and dry, the dandelions tend to be tough and bitter. Blooming plants are too advanced for eating, so Now Is The Time.

Collecting Dandelions
The best way to collect dandelions, Mrs. Wicks tells us, is to cut the root beneath the ground with a sturdy knife, removing the whole plant. Pare off any yellow outer leaves and

Stroud Union PTA Hears Of Parent-Child Relations

Stroudsburg — Parent-child relationships were discussed at the Stroud Union High School PTA meeting Monday night by Ed Bollard.

Bollard, teacher of a young peoples group in Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church, has three children enrolled in East Stroudsburg schools.

He noted, "From Biblical writings to today's contemporary jokes, we are reminded that parents must be guides to their children."

"Using God's Ten Commandments, maintaining high moral standards and discipline in the home, is the way to do this," he continued. "In addition, lots of love and understanding and, above all, setting good examples with our own behavior, are necessary."

"There are many stepping stones in the path of life," Bollard said, "that may all look alike to the inexperienced eye; yet, some are slippery and dangerous, others, strong and reliable."

"It is the parents' responsibility to help the child recognize the difference," he underlined, "and to help make the right choice."

Just as parents had decisions to make and sought help from parents, teachers and counselors, so must today's child be taught.

"Children must be raised morally strong," Bollard emphasized, "to resist temptations of these times. With so many pressures about honor rolls, college boards, social standing, popularity, children are easily tempted to take the easy way out: to cheat, lie or steal or let morality slip, just once, as 'NO one will know.'"

Responsibility for these traits rests with the parents and the training they give their children, Bollard said.

During the business session, new officers were elected. To be installed in the Fall are Darrel Gehris, president; Mrs. William Reaser, vice president; Charles Shatto, recording secretary; Mrs. Loretta Shatto, corresponding secretary and Dale Miller, treasurer.

Refreshments were served by the eighth grade mothers under the chairmanship of Mrs. David Lee, from a table decorated with a Spring motif.

FOR WOMEN ONLY . . .

In the summer of 1962, as President of the Pocono Mountain Council of Republican Women, I conducted six Kaffee Klatches throughout Monroe County hoping to double the Council's membership. We tripled! . . . thus receiving the second highest award in Pennsylvania at the State Council's Annual Convention.

From that increase has come four new councils. For I had promised that wherever enough strength was shown I would help organize new councils. These are now chartered members of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican (the largest political woman's organization in the world) and affiliated with the National Federation of Republican Women:

TOP OF THE MOUNTAIN COUNCIL OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN
WESTERN POCONO COUNCIL OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN
T.L.C. COUNCIL (Truth, Love, Courage) OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN
YOUNG WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN COUNCIL

Thus, there are now a total of seven Republican Women's Councils in Monroe County: three serve their immediate area — Barrett Township, Top of the Mountain and Western Pocono. Three are organized for time of day: Monroe Council (afternoon); Pocono Mountain (evening); T.L.C. Council (morning). The last accommodates an age group: young women from 20 to 38 years of age . . . The Young Women's Republican Council.

Success in past campaigns has been due, in great measure, to the excellent organization of our three senior councils and the dedicated work of their able members. We salute you! And thank you for the high standard of Republicanism you set!

Congratulations to the four new councils:
Together may we see State Council's goal "come true" in Monroe County:

"Every Registered Republican Woman a Council Member."

There is no doubt—I need your help to win the election next Tuesday. May I serve you also as a Member of the Republican State Committee?

Modern Teaching Tools Aid Education, Dunlap Declares

STROUDSBURG — Modern teaching tools are making public-school teaching more effective, but they cost money.

"We want everything, but we don't want to pay for it," Willis Dunlap, supervising principal of Pocono Mountain Joint Schools, told the Stroudsburg Rotary Club yesterday.

Dunlap outlined the use of language laboratories for teaching modern languages in individual booths with head phones and recordings; teaching machines; and educational television which will be available in Monroe County within a year.

He said special programs by a "master teacher" viewed in the classroom would radically change and improve teaching methods.

Pocono Mountain Joint probably will not join the educational television system in its first year, but will study starting costs and operation.

Teaching Machines

Teaching machines, he said, are successful for accelerated students and also useful for average or slow learners. They cost from $5 to $40.

Dunlap argued that school administrators need the support of parents in guiding students into their field of talent. He said forcing students into the wrong courses, sometimes at the insistence of parents, only leads to dropouts.

He defended the American public school system as equal to the best in the world. "If

State Police Will Honor Retired Aides

HARRISBURG — The State Police announced yesterday that they will host a reunion for retired members of the State Police in a 2-day program slated at the academy in Hershey, May 30-31.

The program for retired State Policemen and their wives was advanced earlier this year in discussions between Col. E. Wilson Purdy, State Police Commissioner, and representatives of the Retired State Police Association.

Major Hilding C. Johnson, Capt. Peter Carlson, Det. Sgt. William A. Miller, Sgt. Russell Ellis and Mrs. Russell Ellis are representing the retired men and their wives on the planning committee. Others serving on the planning committee are Lt. Col. John I. Grosnick, State Police Chief of Staff, Major Paul A. Rittenmann, Academy Superintendent, and Fiscal Officer Richard J. Shaffer.

"We are mindful of the heritage, passed on to us by these men and the support given their reunion is a simple expression of our thanks and desire to maintain contact with them," said Col. Purdy.

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Saturday, April 25, 1964

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Steer clear of entanglements, pro-natural good will, and remain your naturally bright self no matter how complex situations may seem. Avoid haste in all activities.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — If something is worth repeating, repeat it. But insistence and driving force hard a brain are not good during this potentially constructive period.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Gains indicated in endeavors where the "double touch" counts. Concentrate on quality rather than quantity. And do capitalize on your versatility.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Avoid a present tendency toward exaggeration and over-dramatization of simple events. Fine adjustment indicated through earnest, consistent and knowing endeavor.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Consider any future plan as it will be. When you really know the answers, speak up, naturally, freely, and with confidence for all concerned. When not sure, ask for more time to investigate.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Emphasize security and financial attitude now. Put your weight back to well-planned endeavors and all will fall in line easily.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — This is a day in which to emphasize your distinctiveness as a person, for doing things in such an unusual way that others will not only approve, but admire.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Take everything into account before you begin the day, observe outside indications, trends, do not change plans if you logically should not.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Give working or operating under pressure, but do not permit you to show yourself at your best. Both are bad because they increase frustration, cause nervous tension. Easy does it now.

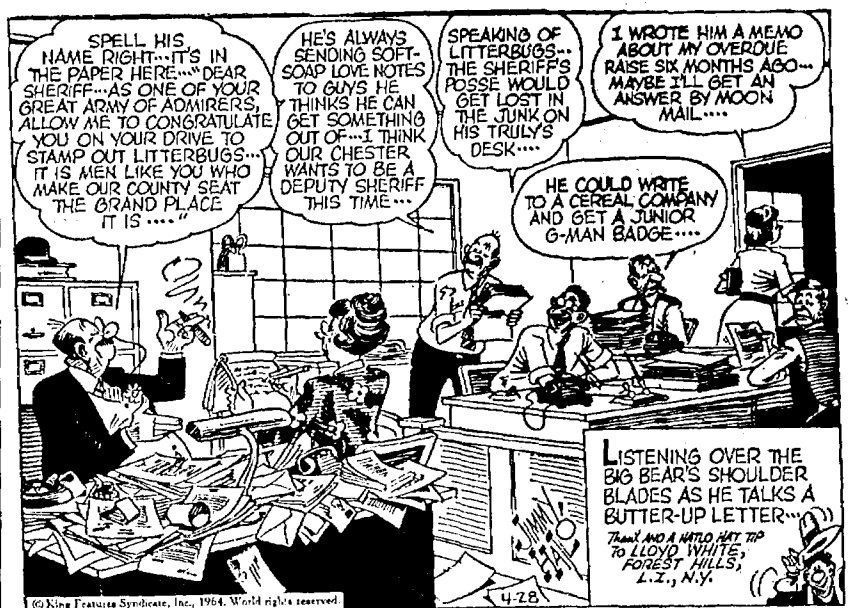

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Forget trifles, past annoyances; this day has its own rewards, and pressing and pressing the care of "minor" items, Ophidion on top.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Being on the defensive may give a wrong idea of your feelings and motives. A straightforward manner advised in all dealings, but with tact and understanding.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Quick decisions will present new motives for decision, rearrangement of tasks, more strategy must come, others' involvement in your affairs.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Your JOHN TODAY is a busy man, more toward a strong knowledge and discernment, yet may contradict your own peace-loving ways at times by stubbornness and dogmatism. Higher learning is your forte. Your intellectual endeavor is usually a plus, but you can be too busy, thus missing little items of value which could be the key to success. # Stroud Union Topples Slatington, 6-2; Bangor Rallies To Tie Eastburg, 3-3

Three-Run Fifth Inning Gains Draw For Slaters

EAST STRODSBURG — A three-run fifth-inning rally yesterday enabled Bangor to escape with a 3-3 tie against the Cavaliers of East Stroudsburg in a Lehigh-Northampton League clash.

It was the second tie game in three starts for the Cavaliers of Coach Jim Werkheiser. Eastburg took advantage of Bangor starting hurler Sherwood Heard's wildness to gain a 3-0 lead in the first inning. But Larry Lobb came on in a brilliant relief stint, blanking the Cavaliers the rest of the way while striking out 13 and walking but four.

Ray Gallagher led off the E-burg first by walking and Bill Reese smacked a long double for the first score of the game. Heard then walked Doug Hilyard and Russ Scott, loading the sacks, and hit Monte Peretti with a pitch for another tally.

That finished Heard for the day. Coach Louis Guida replaced him with Lobb who bobbled a grounder back to the mound and threw wide of the plate which allowed the Eastburg run to score.

Lobb helped his own cause along in the fifth, blasting a triple to deep right to score Joe Pommett and Al Bet. Then, with two down, an infield pop was dropped by the Eastburg second baseman, allowing Lobb to cross the plate with the tying run.

The game went eight innings before it was called because of darkness.

Villanova Ace Wins In Relays

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Durable distance ace Vic Zvolak anchored Villanova to victories Friday in the only two relay finals—the four-mile and distance medleys—in the 70th Penn Relays.

Individual champions crowned in this first of two days of competition were Ernie Sourek of Michigan, with a 175-3 loss in the discus; Norman Tate of North Carolina College, 24-11 in the broad jump; Olney Crossdale of Harvard, with a 179-0 hammer throw, and Vin McGrath of Manhattan, 51.5 in the 400-meter hurdles.

Others Today
Other finals are scheduled Saturday, with Villanova the team to beat in the vast field of more than 5,000 athletes.

In addition to the relays proper, former Yale captain Jay Luck, now running for the New Haven Track Club, set a carnival record 51.2 in the Olympic development 400-meter hurdles.

The event is one of 15 special events on the program for athletes attempting to win a spot on the team that will represent the United States in Tokyo this fall.

Zvolak, the NCAA and IC4A cross country champion, ran the anchor mile on each of the winning Wildcat relay teams. His 4:07.3 anchor propelled Villanova to a 16:50.7 four-mile relay.

His 4:13.7 effort two hours later led Villanova to a distance medley win in 9:53.8.

Pittsburgh (AP)—Bill Virdon's home run and three singles led the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 9-4 victory over the New York Mets Friday night.

Pirates' starter Bob Friend went the distance, gave up eight hits, struck out five and didn't walk a man as he won his 11th straight from the Mets, who have yet to beat him.

Pius X Wallops Pleasant Valley

BRODHEADSVILLE — An eight-run second inning provided the cushion for the baseball Royals of Pope Pius X of Roseto yesterday as they crushed Pleasant Valley, 11-1, in a game played on the Bears' home diamond.

Pius pounded out nine hits, including two triples, enroute to its second win of the young campaign. N. Parillo provided steady four-hit pitching for the Royals.

The Bears averted a shutout when they pushed across a single tally in the fourth inning. Ron Knecht and Ken Bowman were the only Bears who were able to solve Parillo's slants.

STRODSBURG — The Pocono Mountain Baseball League opens its 1964 campaign tomorrow with two new teams—the Stroudsburg Poconos and Kunkelton — expanding the circuit to eight clubs.

The addition of the Poconos gives Stroudsburg two teams in the circuit. They join the A's which last year won the league playoffs against West End, the first-place finishers.

Oddly, the new Kunkelton ballclub is tabbed by most league officials as "the team to beat." The club is sprinkled with several seasoned players along with some top-grade younger talent.

The Poconos, on the other hand, lean almost entirely on youth. Several of the players forcing in two runs after Dave Pierson led off the round with a single and stole second.

Larry Ford, Paul Albert, John Muller and Tom Moreken all reached base on free passes which tied the score. Mike Thurston then stroked a two-out bases-loaded single which scored Albert but Muller was out at home on the play, ending the inning.

Stroud Union picked up two more runs in the fourth as Albert and Muller singled and another safely by Moreken tallied Albert after Ed Yost had forced Muller at second. Yost later scored on a throwing error.

Final Tally
The Mountaineers picked up their final tally in the sixth when Muller, leading off the inning with a single, crossed the plate on another throwing error. Muller was 2-for-2 for the Mounties while Glenn Blasing poked a double for the only extra-base hit of the game.

Four Walks
Bryan Balliet, starting pitcher for the Slaters, suddenly found himself unable to find the range in the second inning as he walked four consecutive batters.

Third Straight Victory; LVL Debut Successful

STRODSBURG — The Mountaineers of Stroud Union got off to a rocky start against visiting Slatington yesterday but bounced back to gain a 6-2 nod for their third straight win of the season which also marked a successful debut in the Lehigh Valley League.

Stroud Union spotted the Slaters a two-run lead in the first inning as a pair of errors paved the way for both markers.

But Freddy Frantz, who hurled the distance for the Mounties, pitched shutout ball the rest of the way while his teammates quickly got on the scoreboard in the second frame to gain the lead which they never relinquished.

Washington Trips KC In 10th, 6-1

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Wayne Causey's two-base throwing error opened the door for a five-run 10th inning uprising that gave Washington a 6-1 victory over Kansas City Friday night.

A's starter Orlando Pena and Claude Osteen of the Senators each had allowed only six hits as the teams went into the 10th tied 1-1.

With one out, Causey picked up Don Lock's grounder and threw the ball into the stands. Fred Valentine then walked and Ed Brinkman followed with a single that sent Lock across with the tie-breaking run. That was all for Pena.

Lumpe singled in the first inning and scored, doubled home a run in the fifth and drove in two more in the sixth with a bases-loaded single.

Lolich, going for the first time against the Twins, held them hitless until Earl Battey lined a single with two out in the fifth and finished with a three-hitter.

Knights 'Boot' Wilson Game

PEN ARGYL — Six errors by Pen Argyl yesterday sent the Green Knights down to their third straight defeat of the season as Wilson Borough won the Lehigh-Northampton League struggle of hard hitters, 10-6.

The Warriors bashed out five of their 11 hits in the first inning when they pushed across five of their runs. All the hits were singles but two Pen Argyl miscues were instrumental in the scoring.

It was 8-2 in the sixth when the Pen Argyl bats suddenly came to life. A three-run triple by second baseman Dale Capone was the big blow in that frame as the Knights tallied five runs to narrow the margin to 8-6.

Maris Seeks Peace

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The average ball player dreams of a fighting chance at the major league home run record. Roger Maris couldn't care less.

"I went through it once," said the New York Yankees' slugger, "but I don't want to go through it again."

That's enough, too much pressure and publicity. No peace and privacy. The combination almost made a wreck out of me."

Maris still shudders when he thinks back to 1961, the year he hammered the record 61 home runs.

3-Year-Olds Set Sights On Richer Races

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Twenty-four 3-year-old horses, 12 of them fillies, put their best feet forward Saturday with hopes they will show enough to qualify for richer races to come.

The $25,000-added Chesapeake Stakes at Laurel, Md., and the $10,000 Oaks Purse and $6,000 Stepping Stone Purse, both at Churchill Downs, are not the richest races on the day's national card. But as previews of things to come they rate the top spot.

Seven of the 3-year-olds clash in the 11-1/2-mile Chesapeake. Four of them — Kentucky Jug, Repeating, Ouzo and Knightly Manner — are eligible for next Saturday's Kentucky Derby at Churchill. But only Kentucky Jug and Knightly Manner are considered likely starters in the big race. Kentucky Jug is Calumet Farm's chief hope for an eighth Kentucky Derby victory.

Of the other three Chesapeake entries, Sheldrake and Zurich are eligible for the Preknexes May 16 and the Belmont Stakes June 6.

The seven-furlong Stepping Stone is even more closely associated with the Derby. It drew five colts pointing for America's most famous horse race. They are The Scoundrel, third choice in the future books back of Hill Rise and Northern Dancer; Mr. Brlek; Dandy K; Geology; and Dunfee.

The $10,000 Oaks Purse is a seven-furlong tune-up for the $30,000 Kentucky Oaks to be run at Churchill May 1. Grecian Princess, winner of the Louisville Derby, Miami Mood and Panama are topweights under 121 pounds each in the field of 12.

Saturday's top race financially is the $75,000-added Grey Lag Handicap over 1 1/2 miles at Aqueduct. Mongo and Gun Bow are in the field of eight under equal weights of 128 pounds.

Exchange Student, Parents Feted By N'fld Rotarians

By Peggy Bancroft
Record Correspondent

NEWFOUNDLAND — English and French intermingled happily in the conversation at the ladies night program of the Newfoundland Rotary Club this week, as the club's exchange student and her parents caught up on nearly a year's activities, and Rotarians sat around beaming like so many proud fathers.

The club's participation in the student exchange program for the first time this year, has more or less followed the general pattern of student exchange, until this week, when the club members and their wives welcomed their student's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Foetisch, of Lausanne, Switzerland.

Mr. and Mrs. Foetisch, well-tanned from a visit to Florida, and fresh from a stay in Washington, D. C., arrived in Newfoundland only a few hours before the program at Green's Restaurant.

Talking busily with the daughter, Camille, in French ("we think so much faster than way"), the Foetischs enjoyed their meeting with the Rotarians who have underwritten their daughter's stay in this area.

"We cannot thank you enough," Mr. Foetisch said after his introduction by Thomas Gangewere, president. "You have done so much for Camille. She and the other exchange students learn to see 'how it goes' in other countries. They learn to understand themselves and to understand others in strange lands."

Thanks Club
Mrs. Foetisch also thanked the Rotarians, and said, "Camille, she doesn't like to go back to Switzerland. She loves it here."

Mr. Foetisch, an active Rotarian who has traveled all over the world and attended Rotary meetings in many countries, noted that the meeting at which he was most uncomfortable was in Japan, where the whole session was conducted as the men knelt on the floor.

The program during the Ladies Night was highlighted by the appearance of Emmanuel Giacobbe, of the Tobylanna Army Depot. Presented by Major Robert Miller, he sang a group of songs including "Be My Love," "Come Back to Sorrento," "One Love," "Donkey Serenade," "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing," and "The Lord's Prayer." He was accompanied by Dr. Harold Gilbert, of Angels. He will sing at a special program at Pocono Manor this weekend, and at the World's Fair on May 9.

Hamilton College Dean At ESSC

EAST STROUDSBURG — Dr. Winton W. Tolles, dean of Hamilton College in Clinton, N.Y., is visiting the campus of East Stroudsburg State College for a series of conferences concerning the East Stroudsburg State College Liberal Arts Program.

As a consultant for the college, Dean Tolles will meet with the curriculum committee, heads of departments and the Liberal Arts Council to explore solutions to problems of curriculum development and other aspects of the expansion of liberal arts education.

Dr. John C. Appel, Director of the Liberal Arts Program at East Stroudsburg State College stated that Dean Tolles is a nationally recognized consultant for colleges that are initiating or developing liberal arts programs.

Giacobbe has the enviable position of playing the only male part in the Marywood College opera this Spring. And, although he will be discharged from the Army on May 8, he will commute from Elizabeth, N.J., for rehearsals.

A young man who "sings because he loves it," he has been in this country for seven years, coming from Italy. He has appeared with the Keith Brassele show and with the DeMarco Sisters, and plans to further his musical training after his discharge.

Guests at the meeting were Howard Dunlap, Herb Stromberg and Bob Hong, all of Clarks Summit; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Valenzano, of Jonsdale; Miss Joyce Gangewere, the club's outgoing exchange student who will spend a year in Australia; and Mrs. Fred Bancroft, South Sterling.

Gangewere announced that there will be no meeting next week, since the club will participate in the annual conference at Pocono Manor this weekend. Major Miller has arranged for a display showing the exchange country for District 741 for the past year, and 18 members of the Newfoundland club will attend the sessions, as will Mr. and Mrs. Foetisch.

On May 4, there will be an open meeting preceded by a director's meeting. No meeting is scheduled for May 11, since the club will have met on May 9 at the World's Fair in New York. The May 18 meeting will be at Tobylanna Army Depot. The May 25 meeting will feature a program from the matching club in The Netherlands.

A new Rotary banner for the Newfoundland Club, showing the outdoor activities for which the Poconos are famous, was displayed. This banner will be exchanged with other clubs. It was shown beside the new banner presented by Mr. Foetisch from Lausanne Rotary Club.

Gangewere announced that the May 17 meeting for district orientation is for outgoing students, and noted that "this program is such a valuable one, and is very close to our hearts."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check the letters under the key numbers left to right. Then read the message in the letters under the checked figures give you.
